

SPEAKERS FOR GOVERNMENT SERIES AT KALMBACH

Mike Flynn taught social studies at Emmaus Junior High School and Emmaus High School for 34 years. His career included teaching World History, Sociology, American Studies II, Philosophy, and Anthropology. He retired in 2018 and has since pursued his passion for local history by serving on the board of the Emmaus Historical Society and producing video presentations on the name origins of area towns. Mike has earned his undergraduate degree at Indiana University of Pennsylvania and he also did graduate work at Kutztown University and Villanova University.

Tom Warnke's educational history includes a degree in Marketing and Economics from Kings College in Wilkes-Barre, PA. He also earned a master's in business administration from Lehigh University and a Social Studies Certification from Kutztown University. He has also completed additional master's level coursework in education and history. Tom has 32 years classroom experience teaching American and World history, AP Government, AP Economics, and his areas of interest include Founders and the Constitution, Economics (particularly Macro), philosophy, and American History.

John Gallagher earned a BS degree in Secondary Education - Social Studies from Kutztown University. He taught in East Penn School District since 1993, teaching at Eyer Junior High School/Middle School and Emmaus High School and retired in 2023. He earned his master's degree in Secondary Education from Villanova University and completed additional coursework at Moravian College. During his career, he taught American Studies I and II, World Studies, Advanced Placement United States Government and Politics, Dual Enrollment US Government, and the history/philosophy component of the Senior Humanities course. He is a self-proclaimed "Constitution Geek" and fervently hopes that someday time-travel will be realized so he can go back to have philosophical and Constitutional conversations with James Madison.
